

APARTMENT COMPLEX DATABASE

PARKER MACOMBER

- Assumptions:
- A TENANT can rent from one company.
 - A COMPANY rents out apartments to multiple tenants, or could have nobody renting out apartments.
 - A TENANT has one lease.
 - An APARTMENT has multiple leases depending on the amount of roommates living there. (Example: a college student renting a bedroom in an apartment)
 - A LEASE could have multiple tenants. (Example: A family of three lives in one Apartment)
 - A LEASE is designated to one apartment.
 - An APARTMENT is leased out to somebody by one company, or it could not be leased out (Example: An empty apartment).
 - A APARTMENT COMPANY leases out multiple Apartments.
 - A APARTMENT COMPANY has multiple amenities.
 - An AMENITY has one company.
 - A APARTMENT COMPANY charges for multiple transactions.
 - A TRANSACTION is charged by one apartment company.
 - A APARTMENT COMPANY does multiple maintenance jobs or none depending on the situation. (Example: the Apartment company)
 - A MAINTENANCE JOB is done by one apartment company.
 - The NumberOfBedrooms is the calculated number of bedrooms per apartment.